- [ ] Check your phone qualifies. Google says Pixel Tag needs Android 9 or later and Bluetooth 6.0 or later; your phone maker's spec page lists both.
- [ ] Check for Ultra-Wideband. The arrow-style precision finding needs a phone with Ultra-Wideband; look for UWB on your phone maker's spec page.
- [ ] Compare the Australian price. The Google Store lists A$49 for one or A$169.99 for four, about A$42.50 a tag.
- [ ] Turn on Left Behind alerts. After pairing, switch them on in Find Hub for things you carry daily, such as keys or a wallet.
- [ ] Share tags on shared items. Add up to 10 people to a tag on a shared car key or family suitcase.
- [ ] Keep a spare CR2032 battery. The coin cell lasts about a year and you can change it yourself.
